CENTAURUS APPOINTS ORIMCO TO ADVANCE DEBT FINANCING FOR THE JAGUAR NICKEL SULPHIDE PROJECT

Debt financing process to commence in parallel with completion of the Definitive Feasibility Study

International nickel sulphide developer Centaurus Metals (ASX Code: CTM) is pleased to announce the appointment of Orimco Pty Ltd to provide independent financial advisory services in relation to the debt financing of its 100%-owned Jaguar Nickel Sulphide Project in Brazil.

Orimco is a leading advisory firm providing services to resource companies and wholesale investors focused on the global mining industry. The Orimco team has extensive experience arranging and managing debt and hedging transactions for both resource companies and financiers. Orimco has provided advisory services to resource companies across a broad range of projects, commodities (including recent nickel experience), and jurisdictions. The team is led by highly experienced mining executives Nick Harch, Brett Gossage and John Fitzgerald.

With the delivery of the Jaguar Definitive Feasibility Study scheduled for the end of Q1 2023, the appointment of Orimco will ensure that the study outcomes and deliverables meet the requirements of debt financiers and support a competitive financing process.

Centaurus' Managing Director, Mr Darren Gordon, said: "The appointment of Orimco is a significant milestone for the Company as we progress the completion of the Definitive Feasibility Study for the Jaguar Nickel Sulphide Project. We expect that Orimco's experience and knowledge will lead to a successful financing outcome for Jaguar and we look forward to working with the Orimco team during the next stage of project development."
